JoAnn Janjigian

HerStory

JoAnn started quilting in 1975, and by the early 80's she was looking for a community of like-minded people to share her interests. A native of Watertown, and familiar with the area, she soon found the Quilters' Connection in Arlington and immediately joined.

The many friendships within the guild that she has made over the years are the most valuable aspect of QC for her, and she says that several auction purchases of members' works bring the guild into her home to enjoy every day.

JoAnn finds the act of entering her studio and quilting meditative, and she tries to work frequently. However, she admits that the one other activity that keeps her busy and which she enjoys almost as much as quilting is cooking.

Photos of her delicious culinary achievements are often posted on Instagram @anoush_jan
